

Adult Learning

Syllabus Number

EDU-203

Elective

2 credit

MORI, Reina

1. Course Description

In a lifelong learning society, there is a need for people who can structure their own learning opportunities on their own. In this class, students learn about adult learning, which is attracting attention in the lifelong learning society. It incorporates group work and emphasizes the independence of the participants. For the final project, participants will be asked to think about what they can do and present their proposals to the group. There is a limit to the number of participants, so please pay attention to the results of the lottery.