

Criminal Law: General Principles II

Syllabus Number

CRL-102

Compulsory 2
credit

SASAKI, Tomoko

1. Course Description

This course deals with the general provisions part of the Penal Code, which is applied to any crime, not only crimes stipulated in the Code but also crimes in any other law. In that sense, the knowledge of this course is essential to deal with any crime. Students are to know how a crime is constituted ;constituent elements of a crime, illegality (justification cause), both of which are studied in the I part, followed by liability. This II part also deals with attempt and complicity.