Seminar I Syllabus Number SEM-301
Compulsory 2

TAMAKI, Tomomi

credit

1. Course Description

This course will look into current economic sitiations and development challenges of developing Asia. In the spring semester, the course will discuss vaious impacts of digitalization in many aspects of economic activities on developing countries in Asia. The course will be conducted in a participatory manner by the students and will seek opportunities for the students to do research work and make presentations in the class based on the findings from their research work.