

Evolutional Psychology

Syllabus Number

PSY-301

Elective

2 credit

HORITA, Yutaka

1. Course Description

Evolutionary Psychology is an approach to understand the reason for human cognition and behavior from a view of evolution and adaptation. In this lecture, we learn the theory of evolution and recent research topics in evolutionary psychology; for example, mating, decision-making, pro-sociality, and cultural evolution.