

Reading Materials in Japanese History 3A- I

Syllabus Number

JPH-221

Compulsory Elective
2 credit

FUKAYA, Koji

1. Course Description

This class, reading materials in Japanese history 3A- I , is the study and learn how to read many types of documents or records in Japanese medieval and early modern ages, and to understand the meanings of those contents. So the students take part in this class will have to read the documents or others and transrate them into modern words or sentences, and after that investigate about their contents or historical backgrounds, further make presentation of its outcome as groupework.