

心理学研究演習Ⅲ

Syllabus Number

SEM-401

Compulsory 2
credit

HORITA, Yutaka

1. Course Description

In this lecture, we will study the psychological mechanisms of individuals that contribute to the formation of human society and culture. Specifically, we will learn prosociality (cooperation or empathy), social influence (influence from others such as imitation and conformity), group-oriented behavior (in-group bias), social network (connection with people), and so on.