

総合経営 I

Syllabus Number

MAN-403

Compulsory Elective
2 credit

SIGEL, Byon

1. Course Description

This class is designed to help students better understand the structure of modern Japanese consumer society through the lens of economic and trade relations between the United States and Japan. This course will utilize case studies to illustrate how Japan and the United States resolved trade friction to create a mutually beneficial economic partnership. We will conclude by looking at current trade and economic issues facing both countries under the new Biden administration.