1. Course Description

Nowadays, smartphones and SNS have become widespread all over the world, and it has become possible to get in touch with the actual lives and ways of thinking of people from other countries. However, in order to accurately understand the information sent by foreigners, there is a barrier to acquiring foreign language abilities, and it is a fact that it cannot be exceeded overnight. In this class, assuming students who are not familiar with Chinese, the instructor will explain the lives of Chinese people today, especially young people, and various issues they are interested in.
