

Seminar : Archaeometry

FUJISAWA, Akira Elective 2 credit

1. Course Description

This class is aimed to be able to utilize and refer to sufficient previous studies by interpretation of them depending on each research theme. You will mainly deal with English articles, and present a summary of how the results obtained by your understanding can be applied to your own research. Audiences will write comments and discuss your presentation. Through the above, you will clarify the results of previous research and embody the theme of the master's thesis.