

Advanced Laboratory Course in Psychology 1

Syllabus Number

SEM-301
Compulsory 0 credit

HORITA, Yutaka

1. Course Description

In this seminar, we will study the psychological mechanisms behind human social behavior in social interactions from the evolutionary perspective and the influences of individuals' behavior on society and culture. We will conduct the research using empirical methods such as experiments and surveys on the themes of prosociality, altruism, cultural evolution, groups, and social networks.