

Advanced Laboratory Course in Psychology 2

Syllabus Number

SEM-302

Compulsory 2
credit

IJJIMA, Yuudai

1. Course Description

Emotions are changing from moment to moment due to various factors, such as external environments and social interactions. The aim of this lecture is to learn how to measure emotions dynamically changing, and to study our emotional process with psychological experiment and survey. In this lecture, we plan our own research and conduct experiments or surveys. The goal of this lecture is to analyze data statistically and to report research findings.