

Advanced Laboratory Course in Psychology 1

Syllabus Number

SEM-301

Compulsory 0 credit

IKEDA, Masatoshi

1. Course Description

Students will survey and discuss in order to learn basic methodologies to study the human mind, including pathological one, development of human behavior, social behavior, cultural aspect and so forth. Field study may also be conducted upon necessity. The “theme” will be prepared and offered by teaching stuffs but students themselves are required to prepare the research design and to collect/analyze the data, thereby learning effective methods to study various issues through the experience.

Our theme is psychoanalytic understandings of human mind, conduct, symptom, cultural aspects and so forth.