

日本古代中世史研究

FUKAYA, Koji Elective 2 credit

1. Course Description

This class, the study of Japanese ancient and medieval history, is for the master course students in their graduate school. So the students participate in this class will be very few members and the theme dealt with will be settled after a discussion with the graduate students and the lecturer. The contents will be the careful reading of the thesis or articles and the documents about the theme be concerning by each students mainly specialized in Japanese ancient or medieval history.