

Research in Regional History I

Syllabus Number

JPH-239

Elective

2 credit

FUKAYA, Koji

1. Course Description

This lecture is about mainly Japanese various regions. Those regions are including many types of aspects like historical, geographical, social, religious, folklore, and other issues and movements in it. So this lecture will be, in a sense, some kind of attempt to understand the ordinality or characterisity of those regions in its history or topography.

In this semester, it will be talked about Japanese indivisual areas somewhat macro size, like Aichi-ken, Aomori-ken, Ishikawa-ken and so on.