

History of Economics I

Syllabus Number

EDE-201

Elective

2 credit

SATO, Mitsunobu

1. Course Description

This course surveys the main schools in the history of the development of economic thought, beginning with the ancient Greek philosophers and the works of Adam Smith, David Ricardo, Thomas Robert Malthus, and others. The course will develop an insight into the evolution of economics and will provide an opportunity for better understanding of the nature of economic science. And this course has its starting point in the institutional approach of Thorstein Veblen.