

歴史・文化財学方法論Ⅰ

Compulsory 2
credit
Kazuya・

YAMAUCHI,
FUJISAWA, Akira

1. Course Description

In order to understand history and cultural heritage, it is necessary to study objects, documents and memories in a comprehensive way. At the same time, there is a growing need to understand, protect and make use of cultural heritage, including excavated written and archaeological materials, pictorial materials, historic sites and landscapes. In this course, you will be introduced to the relationship between objects and other disciplines, and will learn perspectives and methods that will help you in your research.