1. Course Description

"Higher Education Seminar" is a group of subjects to learn more deeply and widely about matters related to teaching and learning.

In this 'Higher Education' class provides a basic knowledge on the basic theories of higher education, higher education policy, curriculum development or methods of instruction, assessment and current issues concerning university education.

After taking this class, students can briefly explain the current situation and issues surrounding higher education in Japan and the world. I recommend students who are aiming for jobs related to education to take this class.
