

動物考古学Ⅱ

Syllabus Number

ARC-216

Elective

2 credit

UETSUKI, Manabu

1. Course Description

Zooarchaeology is a study of past life ways and environment through the analysis of animal remains such as bones and shells excavated from archaeological sites. The aim of this lecture is to give an exposition of the methods and challenges of the field based on actual case studies.