

Special Topics in Finance 1

Elective 2 credit
FUTAMURA, Hideo

1. Course Description

The purpose of this course is to explain the basic functions of finance, the financial behavior of households and businesses corporations, the functions of financial institutions and financial markets, and the various means of monetary policy. This course is not only for graduate students aiming for economics but also for students aiming for management and tourism management.