1. Course Description

This lecture is following spring course. We will work on a teaching materials study and the class study (education contents, education method, class analysis) in the elementary school in particular in this term. Here, I announce it in the form of the simulated class based on announcement experience in pedagogy practice I. I want to hear an opinion without falling into a one-sided knowledge and want to devise it for a class to raise a research power and to attach power. In addition, all the members give the presentation about the study hot water theme of each person. I want you to deepen the individual studies to lead to the study that is a graduate.
