

Political and Economic Topics in English I

Syllabus Number

ENG-103

Elective

2 credit

MICHELIN, Franck

1. Course Description

Besides newspapers from the English-speaking world, we will also think about the economic and political situation in Asia, Europe, and other regions. Every week, we will read an article written in English and analyze it in Japanese. Through this process, the students will improve their reading skills in English. The spring semester will be mainly dedicated to North America, Europe, and the Middle East. However, we will change topics according to the news. Among the 15 classes given, 14 will be given on the campus and 1 (the 13th) will be given on demand, through the LMS of the university.