

Information Network I

Syllabus Number

INN-201

Elective

2 credit

IN, Yoho

1. Course Description

The purpose of this course is to study network protocols and architecture, including architectural principles for designing networks, transport protocols, internet routing foundations and practice, router design, network security and network resource management.