

Economic Policy I

Syllabus Number

ECP-211

Elective

2 credit

YUKAWA, Shiho

1. Course Description

In this course, we will study the purpose of economic policies and their effects by covering familiar economic issues. Our daily lives are influenced by economic policies. Therefore, understanding economic policies is important not only to know the current developments in Japanese economy but also to understand economic circumstances which are closely related to our daily lives. The goal of this class is to be able to think critically about economic policies.