1. Course Description

In this lecture, we will read ancient Chinese history books translated into Japanese. Ancient Chinese people have compiled many biographies of people. Biography of a person is relatively easy to read, so even students can read it if the teacher teaches. Students choose their favorite biography, read it in their own way, create a resume, and publish it. Other students listen to it's presentation, exchange opinions and discuss. In this way, we discuss ancient Chinese history books. I expect the students to speak up positively.
