

Psychology 2

Syllabus Number	PSY-102
Elective	2 credit
SHINHARA, Masayoshi

1. Course Description

In this class, continuing from the first semester's "Psychology I" (taught by Masayoshi Niihara), we will consider not only the basics of psychology but also our relationship with the "psychologized" world based on various events that abound in our daily lives. In particular, in the second semester, the topics of "communicability," "intelligence," and "identity" will be addressed.

In this class, the lectures will be conducted using social networking services (SNS), with real-time communication between faculty and students. Students are expected to bring their own smart phones to class.

The contents of this lecture are largely related to those of "Psychology I" (taught by Masayoshi Niihara), which will be offered in the spring semester. Therefore, it is recommended to take this lecture consecutively with "Psychology I".