

Mind-Body Development and Its Relation to Learning Process

Syllabus Number

EDU-123

Elective

2 credit

HIRANUMA, Akiko

1. Course Description

It is one of the compulsory subjects for obtaining a teaching license for junior high schools and high schools. To provide education with appropriate guidance suitable for the process of learning development, it is vital to comprehend the path of mental and physical development of children. In the course, in the perspective of lifespan development, from birth to death, students would be focused on learning the aspects of development from infancy to adolescence, in order to offer suitable education for each specific stage.