

幼児と人間関係

Syllabus Number

ESS-110

Elective

2 credit

KANEKO, Yoshihide

1. Course Description

In this course, we learn 1) the process by which children acquire non-cognitive abilities such as independence and self-restraint, how to interact with others in a group, and 2) the basics of childcare practice methods such as setting the environment to support the child's growth by the childcare worker and through language. In addition, we consider specific support, promotion methods for infants to experience.