1. Course Description

Regarding “expression” in children’s daily life and play, expressions through “musical,” “physical,” “creative” and “linguistic” methods will be comprehensively studied. The class focuses mainly on “physical expression” accompanied by music. By using the body to feel music and create expression, students are expected to understand the fun and joy of expression. This lecture anticipates that students will actively participate in assignments, and they must cooperate with others to complete assignments. Furthermore, an emphasis is placed not only on presentation content but also on the process of discussion with others to complete assignments.
