

Evolutional Psychology

Syllabus Number

PSY-301

Elective

2 credit

HORITA, Yutaka

1. Course Description

Evolutionary Psychology is an approach that attempts to understand the reasons for human cognition and behavior from the perspective of evolution and adaptation. In this lecture, we will learn about theories of evolution and recent research topics in evolutionary psychology such as mate selection, decision-making, pro-sociality, and cultural evolution.