Syllabus Number

SEM-302

Compulsory 2
credit

TADA, Satsuki

1. Course Description

To develop skills in planning and managing events in schools and sports sites, students will get to know each other through practical activities such as (1) planning, (2) management on the day, and (3) post-reporting.

Through close reading of research papers, students will also acquire research methods and deciphering skills.

Students will set issues of interest, present a summary of previous research, and propose topics for discussion.

They will exchange opinions and discuss, summarize the set tasks in a report, and find a theme for their own graduation research.
