

特別支援教育基礎論

Syllabus Number

ESS-220

Elective

2 credit

KANDA, Motoshi

1. Course Description

In this class, we learn the basic ideas and points to keep in mind regarding the special support education provided in. In order to understand the knowledge and support methods necessary to understand each student's learning or living difficulties and to systematically respond to individual educational needs in collaboration with other teachers and related organizations, not only the theoretical background but also the actual situation of special needs education will be introduced to learn how to support based on various teaching cases.