

保健体育科教育学特講

Elective 2 credit
TAKADA, Akishige

1. Course Description

In order to improve the research performance of health and physical education, we will read and reflect on the basic literature on health education and physical education. Specifically, we will read previous research and treatises related to health and physical education. And we will organize the processes necessary for class planning, identify issues, and consider solutions.