Regional Information I

YAMASHITA, Shinichi

1. Course Description

This course is designed to investigate and analyze precisely the current regional information management situation and the government policy in Japan by comparing with other advanced regional information management countries under the era of digital transformation (DX).

This class specifically focuses the role of regional informatization management for realization of a ubiquitous and sustainable society that enriches resident's lives, this course and realizes the direction in which regional informatization management should proceed toward achieving SDGs in the future.