

心ころがるサイコロジー

Syllabus Number

SOP-101

Elective

2 credit

OE, Tomoko

1. Course Description

As people say "today's enemies can be your friends tomorrow, and today's friends can be tomorrow's enemies", we sometimes change or switch our worldviews as our environment, situation, or position changes. In this course, students will learn the tendencies of the changes that people show in their interactions with others and their social world, from the perspective of psychology, especially social psychology. By learning these tendencies, students are expected to develop the ability to understand and judge people objectively. In order to understand concrete methods of psychological research, there will be some opportunities to participate in basic or ongoing experiments or surveys.