1. Course Description

The autumn theme is "How has changed in the 2000s - How to use the materials" as it is in the spring season.

Although I thought about relying exclusively on textbooks during the spring season, in autumn, I use library collections and databases of the library (MELIC). Think about the change in the 2000s while adding cases, information and materials not written in textbooks. This work is done on a group basis.

Ultimately, the students will take up "nowadays Kotoba" that is not in the entry word, while referring to how to write commentary on textbooks, collecting materials and writing commentary by themselves (end issue report).
