1. 授業の概要(ねらい)

Global demand for infrastructure is enormous with the rapid urbanization and economic growth of emerging countries specially in Asia. Following the analysis of important fields of infrastructure business at the previous semester, the concrete analysis on infrastructure development of ASEAN countries will be made based on my business work experience in the trading company and the engineering company as well as through interaction with governmental institutions.

The course is designed to assist students to understand the Japanese view and Japanese Government's assistant policy on infrastructure development of each country throuth studies on activitvities/challenge of Japanese companies in those countries. The goal is to help students to make use of the knowledge gained through these analysis for their future carrier formation.

2. 授業の到達目標

The objective of the course is to let students understand the Japanese view and Japanese Government's assistant policy on infrastructure development of each country and have discussions on students' views as well as their own analysis on the challenge for the infrastructure development in their own country.

3. 成績評価の方法および基準

Written assignment related to the above objective and class attendance will be considered.

4. 教科書･参考文献
