

Public Policy Studies Advanced Course

Basic Core Subjects
Elective 2 credit

YAKU, Hitoshi

1. Course Description

As local public entities' policy implementation means, there are two methods such as regulations and the budget.

In this series of lectures, with respect to the regulation, we will learn mainly about its creation method. Since this lesson is a small class lecture, discussion may be conducted between faculty and students. In this class, you will acquire knowledge, techniques and attitudes about DP 1・2.

2. Course Objectives

Students can create drafts for public entities' regulations in the form of text.

3. Grading Policy

Students will be evaluated based on the final examination.

In addition, students may be asked to submit a report.

I will explain the contents after the final examination.

4. Textbook and Reference

Textbook

Not specified.

5. Requirements(Assignments)

Local public entities' regulations are also a kind of laws.

By many years of practice, the creation of drafts for laws has been carried out in accordance with certain criteria.

The method to create drafts for local public entities' regulations will be due to such criteria as a general rule.

However, since we will use Japanese anyway, deepening our understanding of Japanese is also important.
