2. Course Objectives

The professor teaching this course has had a great deal of experience as a senior officer in both central and local governments, such as a diplomat, deputy mayor, general affairs manager and a pioneer of the "One village, one product" movement (a typical local development policy which has spread throughout Japan) as well as being a planner of 'Furusato Revitalization Policy' under the Takeshita Government. The students will study concrete examples of the various policies through 'case study' including "CHIHO SOSEI-Regional Revitalization". The students shall be proud their homeland and know the importance of the well-balanced development of the national land and the characteristics of the region.
